Mrs. Roach, wife of the proprietor of the Half Way house in Parley's canyon, whose family has been mentioned a number of times as having had typhoid fever, called at the "News" office Satur day afternoon, to state that such re ports were erroneous, and that there had been no sickness in the family be yond a five days' attack she had suf fered from malaria a month ago. A written statement from Dr. Seymour B. Young verified this claim.

A team belonging to the Social bak-ery became frightened and ran away on Seventh South street this morning and were galloping eastward at a rapid rate as the state prison car approached. Observing the runaway, Motorman Joseph Wilkinson essayed to stop it and taking off his coat he flung his arms in the air in a threatening manner and so alarmed the horses that they came to a dead stop. Then Mr. Wilkinson returned to his car and went on.

The organ recital given yesterday af-ternoon by Prof. J. J. McClellan was much enjoyed by a large audience. The program included Haendel's Largo, Palm Sunday, by Mailly; In Paradise, by Brisson; "I Dreamed I Dwelt in Marble Halls," and "Visions," a dream for the organ, and "O Rest in the Lord," a baritone solo by Charles Kent The instrumental performance was of high standard, and the various capacities of the great instrument were ad-mirably brought out. Mr. Kent was also well received.

Seven cases of typhoid fever were reported to the board of health Saturday, making the total number, so far this month, 29. Three of the cases reported today are in the Spidel family, residing at 125 south Third West. Those afflicted with the decease are: William, affilited with the decease are: William, age 4; Pauline, age 5, and Nicholas Spidel, aged 11. The other cases reported is that of K. L. Schettler, age 19, 359 east South Temple street; Hardy Lambert, aged 9, 232 Paxton avenue: Earl Love, aged 11, and Willam Love, aged 9, residing at No. 2 Love's court.

The street railway company is putting in double curves at the intersection of First and North State streets to connext the Sixth and First street lines with North and South Temple streets. The rails on north State street are of heavy steel and laid in a substantial manner. The company has surveyed for an extension of the line on B street north of Eighth, with a view to make a loop, the north line running east to L or N streets, and then down to Sixth street. The grade on B street has been found to be 13.5 per cent in places, but this may be remedied.

Socialist George J. Fox claimed at yesterday's meeting of the Socialists that the campaign expenses of the Democratic and Republican parties were paid by the contributions of individuals, who expected to profit by legislation in favor of the propertied class, hence it was idle to expect either party to pass any legislation that would conflict with the interests of that class. Joseph Gilbert of Spokane will speak next Sunday afternoor. The Socialist lecture wagon has gone to Bingham, from where it will go through Tooele. Utah and Juab counties. Socialist George J. Fox claimed a Tooele. Utah and Juab counties.

The Commercial club is entitled to two delegates to the Irrigation Con-gress, and F. S. Richards and J. D. Murdoch have been selected by the board of governors to represent the club at the convention. Messrs. Fisher Harris and C. P. Mason appeared for the club before the recent meeting of the Trans-Missouri Freight Bureau and argued against the discrimination in rates on mining machinery, which are now in favor of Butte. The rate from Chicago to Salt Lake is $1.25 while to Butte, 600 miles further, it is $1.05. A large and healthy protest $1.05. A large and healthy protowns lodged against this inequality.

What is considered the finest photographic view ever taken is being dis-played in the windows of Walker Bros. on Third South street. It is the finish of the last Yale-Harvard university boat race at New London. The scene was taken from the big railroad bridge, orth, and the big fleet of excursion teamers, the multitude of yachts and maller craft, the excursion trains and he crowds up and down the river, are learly set forth. Manager Shelp of Walker Bros. got the photograph in New York, and is trying to secure also a similarly sized view of the interna-tional yacht race. The Yale boat is just passing the finish line ahead, and cannon on the judges' boat is be

HAY MONUMENT IS UNVEILED

Friends Gather to Witness Solemn And Sacred Ceremony at the City Cemetery.

CLOWING TRIBUTE TO THE DEAD

The Last Chapter in the Tragic Life of The Young Man, a Chapter of Love and Respect.

A modest monument, made of solid and enduring stone was unveiled yesterday in the city cemetery, over the remains of James Robert Hay. The ceremony took place in the presence of over 1,000 people, friends of the youth whose memory was being honored, and they hovered close to catch every word of praise that was uttered from the lips of love. There was something profoundly touching and profoundly depressing resting upon the assembled multitude, something that brought tears to the eyes of many. As they gazed upon the monumental shaft they thought upon the fate of the young man who was lying beneath it, and the' old wounds were torn open afresh, the old grief returned, and they wept anew for their loving friend and brother, who fell the victim to one of the darkest crimes that ever stained civilized society. But it was not the spirit of hatred and revenge, but of ove and sorrow that erected the monument and brought the people together to witness its unveiling. There wer There were one, aged and furrowed with the lines of care and grief, the other young but citifully pale through long months of brooding under the first great grief that had come to darken her happy life— the mother and the wife. They felt the mother and the wife. They felt they had not the strength to stand near the sacred spot with their awful sorrow in the presence and under the gaze of the curious,

THE PROGRAM.

The ceremonies were a splendid tri-bute to James R. Hay in every way. The monument, and the music, the el-oquent words of the speaker and the tears that were shed were all tokens of the esteem in which his memory was held. The services began at 5 o'clock the afternoon and were opened by the Twentieth ward choir singing in beautiful manner, "Thou dost not weep

Prayer was offered by President Angus M. Cannon, which was followed by a sermon delivered by Elder James E. Talmage, whose words were eloquent and appropriate.

ELDER TALMAGE'S REMARKS. Elder Talmage spoke in part: as fol-

"He was called away in a manner nost foul. Uncalled for was the act that struck him down. He was hon-ored and esteemed by those who knew him and for this reason seems the blow more severe. He was a son, a brother, a husband and a father, and one to whom love went forth. This life is but an interval between the eternity that has passed and the one to come have but a season here. Death has various forms, It calls to us in many shapes. We are more reconciled to it when it comes in the form of peace and takes our loved ones when we are pre-pared for it, when the verdict is so gentle that sleep instead of death to have taken possession of the one. This death was cruel. But not one cruel death shall go unavenged. There is a life beyond this one. We have knowledge that there is a life after this one. Reason teaches us to look for something beyond the grave.

THE LIFE HEREAFTER.

"Man has no aspirations which have not been gratified. His ambition for a better, nobler life will have gratifica-tion somewhere. There is a knowledge beyond the tomb. Nothing is lost. If man was noble here he will be noble there. The life hereafter must be more perfect than this one or it is not worth striving for. If ever there was an oc-casion where we needed the inspiration of the Almighty it is now. This life is of the Almighty it is now. This life is not the beginning: neither is it the end. In the person which now sleeps beneath our feet we had a life that is worthy emulation. He had character. He left a record. He led a life above blemish and reproach. If we are to be stricken down. let it be like him, in the discharge of our duties. If he was noble here he will be nobler there. Death is as certain as birth. Death sometimes seems cruel and abrupt, but it is for the best. PEACE TO THE BEREAVED.

"May peace come to those who mourn for him, and manifest itself for the liv-ing. Nothing said here can take from nor add to the record of the sleeper. This drama is finished, but it is for the bereaved friends and relatives that we are here today. Let the good example he set be always before us and let cur ympathy go out to those who mourn conference convened in the Assembly hall Saturday, Sept. 5, 1503, at 10 a. m., with Procident M. Isbella Horne presiding. Opening song, "Come, Come, Ye Saints," by the congregation. Prayer by Maria W. Wilcox. Singing, "Where the voice of friendship's heard." The statistical and financial reports were read and accepted.

In conclusion the Twentieth ward choir sang, "Rest on the hillside, rest," and the benediction was pronounced by Elder Nephi Schoffeld.

of the society's work and said we are not only expected to clothe and feed the body, but feed the spirit as well. She also spoke of the necessity of stor-ing grain. This work had been placed upon us, so let us carry out the coun-sel of our leaders.

Emmeline B. Wells was present and next addressed the conference. She said President Brigham Young coun eled us to store wheat for a day of famine. She encouraged the sisters to remember his words, and also spoke of the mother's lectures, saying they would prove very beneficial to women. Those present should encourage the women of their respective wards to women of their respective wards to give the lectures; also to ask questions, as it will better develope them.

Annie W. Cannon said she wished the younger sisters could hear the testimonies of the women who had graduated from the school of experience. They have always been earnest in their work and kind to their neighbors and each other. She said she not bors and each other. She said she no-ticed a great many young women in the audience and felt that the lectures would be the means of bringing out many more. Conference adjourned till 2 o'clock. Singing, "Doxology." Bene-diction by M. I. Horne.

The afternoon session opened at 2 o'clock by singing, "Hall to the Brightness." Prayer by Counselor Clara C. Cannon. Singing. The treasurer's report was read and accepted. President Bathsheba W. Smith first addressed the meeting as follows: "This society is one of the greatest in the world. It is not and holy. We should heed the is pure and holy. We should heed words of our leaders, cease pla-cards, remember the Sabbath day: set good examples before our neigh-

Counselor Sarah J. Cannon said that the report showed a low average at-tendance. Those enrolled should be par-ticular in helping to support the so-cleyt. She counseled the sisters to settle any difficulties that may arise among themselves and not trouble the brethren in such matters.

Counselor Clara C. Cannon said, let us live our religion, let our thoughts be good. Let us be pleasant and do not worry or trouble ourselves about other people. The spirit of God brings peace. Let us strive for it continually. Julia C. Hewe spoke of the continual revelations of President Joseph F. Smith to the people, and said we should cultivate the spirit of love and charity and be temperate in all that we do Congregation sang, "May we know the joyful sound," after w Lydia Alder spoke of the lack of the sacredness of the marriage covenant, also the lack of love for or appreciation among women of being mothers and home makers.

Sister E. J. Stevenson spoke of the necessity of keeping our children around us and making ourselves their ompanions, Adjourned for three months. Singing, The time is far spent."
